

You Can't Kill the Devil: Fox Media Shows More of Its True Cowardly Colors...

...by Dr. Warner Woodworth, Former Republican

<https://www.laprogressive.com/true-cowardly-colors/> ...December 15, 2021

As more ugly information emerges of Donald Trump's stranglehold on millions of Americans, the shocks continue to reverberate as to how the huge organization, once called "Fox News" has shackled the minds and hearts of millions of Americans. For a decade, I've more correctly referred to the behemoth of lies and distorted allegations as "Faux" media, using the French term for "False." The term, "News," has never been of value at the institution.

Rupert Murdoch's litany of paid liars has seen much turmoil through the years as criminality keeps surfacing. But new revelations on December 13 about how Fox spokespeople (never referred to as newscasters), acknowledged Trump's evil on the January 6 assault on our Capitol, have downgraded the media giant's disgusting practices to a new low.

From DJT's henchman, the so-called White House chief of staff, (No. 4 in a mere four years), Mark Meadows, we now see documents showing that some right-wingers were freaking out as the terrorists were mobilized by Trump himself to march and then attack the once sacred U.S. Capitol. The mobs rushed to destroy the very foundation of our democracy by seeking to overturn the will of the people. Horrified "Foxites" then began frantically trying to get Meadows to have Trump stop the attackers. But, of course, cowards like Meadows had no will or power to convince Trump to end the crisis. Apparently, the preferred course of action by Trump and his advisor was to let the dirty Mike Pence be hanged, some members of Congress be killed by GOPers, thus allowing their evil deeds to occur unrestrained.

Here are a few pieces of Fox's political worries as conveyed to Meadows, with more to certainly surface in the coming days:

- The leading witch at Fox, Laura Ingraham wrote, "Mark, the president needs to tell people in the Capitol to go home. This is hurting all of us. He is destroying his legacy," a laughable phrase to anyone aware of Trump's destructive impacts on America over four years. To me it's also funny she referred to the MAGA hordes as "people," rather than use the more accurate term, "rats and mice."
- The distorter of all truth and/or facts at Fox, Sean Hannity, also begged: "Can he make a statement, ask people to leave the Capitol?" he asked of Meadows.
- Another Faux distorter, Brian Kilmeade, worried about his role model, Trump. So, he told Meadows to "get (Trump) on TV," while nearly crying that the assault was "destroying everything you have accomplished." This from an ignorant host who once declared that "All terrorists are Muslims." Yet he was unable to discern any Muslims on Jan. 6 as thousands of white supremacist terrorists invaded the halls of Congress.

Of course, such craven Fox media staffers worried that their "great" Emperor Trump would suffer a stain on his wonderful record of "accomplishments." What may have been the "important issues?"

Their Jan. 6, concerns about preserving the swamp of Trump's 38,000 independently documented lies must have been important to Fox. Or were they worried because of his atrocious international failures while admiring the world's dictators like Kim or Putin? Perhaps it was DJT's shutdown of our government. Or Trump's hiring of so many incompetent federal officers who turned and ran when the complexities of real leadership emerged. No doubt, Trump's magnificent failures at "building the wall" along our border with Mexico was critical (and a clear failure).

Maybe Fox's Hannity, Ingraham, and Kilmeade were mostly concerned that their four years of Trump adulation would finally be seen by all the QAnon, gun-crazy anti-vaxxers for the truth behind their façade.

Of course, others joined the ugly chorus. Surprising to me, even cowardly Donnie, Jr. screamed in a text for help to Meadows: "He's got to condemn this s— ASAP," to which the Chief of Staff agreed: "I'm pushing it hard." Donnie: "It has gone too far and gotten out of hand." I suspect he must have not been on his usual cocaine use to make such a rational statement that day.

Meadows himself, as discovered in other recent Fox admissions, got texts and emails supporting evil schemes to have Republican state legislators send corrupt GOP alternates to help install Trump over the official representatives in Congress. These evil doers sought for alternate slates of electors who would lie to the American public and favor Trump over Biden's huge win. As a reminder, the Democrats beat Trump's cult party by a massive 7 million votes. When a congressperson called these unethical efforts to overturn the election as "highly controversial," the deceitful Meadows reacted, "I love it."

These newly revealed messages make it clear that Trump was responsible for the riot and only he could stop it. Even Meadows agreed in real-time that Trump should go on national TV or take to Twitter to call off his thousands of attackers. In other words, "call off the dogs" snarling on January 6th. Yesterday, December 13, 2021, as the Jan. 6 Committee reviewed these atrocious new facts of an attempted coup, a GOP critic of Trump, Wyoming Rep. Liz Cheney, accused DJT himself of "supreme dereliction" of duty. "These texts leave no doubt.... The White House knew exactly what was happening at the Capitol." The panel then voted to recommend contempt of Congress charges against Meadows, a federal crime.

But it's plain to see that Faux Nouvelles, the purveyor of storytelling (or "novels") has been a pox on our information society for decades. CEO Roger Ailes was its epitome of evil in public media who enabled falsehoods for some 20 years, ultimately bleeding to death from hemophilia. When he was dumped by Murdoch for sexual harassment against on-air personalities Megan Kelly and Gretchen Carlson, he was rewarded by Trump for his exploits and made an adviser to the most corrupt political campaign in U.S. history in 2016.

Ailes' and Trump's co-conspirator in public lying at Fox, Bill O'Reilly, was also fired for his predatory sexual exploits, and had to pay $32 million. He was sued by five victims and shortly after allegations were made, Fox lost over 60 major advertisers. Yet, last weekend, December 11-12, 2021, he and Trump took their traveling minstrel show of racism and dishonesty on the road. But the turnout was miniscule. Apparently, some Republicans are becoming weary of the Big Lie, and many smaller lies, as well.

Fox was also hit hard over this same weekend by Chris Wallace who dumped the company for a new gig with CNN. He had been the only credible A-lister at Fox for years, primarily because he offered facts and insightful analysis. He's now proved that perhaps you can run from the devil, if you have the guts. But as we see from the Jan. 6 Committee's new evidence, you probably can't kill the devil.

Meanwhile, Trump's woes continue to mount, with new revelations December 14, that New York is plowing aggressively into new evidence of his business frauds and tax schemes, tightening its vice on his serious criminality.

In many circles now, the Jan. 6 data reveal why experts are calling this the most dangerous era in U.S. history, whether Fox executives admit the truth or not. Perhaps even Faux Media can now be correctly identified and crowned as the world's biggest false propaganda tool since Adolf Hitler established the Third Reich's Ministry of Public Enlightenment and Propaganda (RMVP), headed by Joseph Goebbels himself.

Dr. Warner Woodworth, Former Republican

FacebookTwitterPinterestRedditShare

BY WARNER WOODWORTH... POSTED ON DECEMBER 15, 2021

DISCLAIMER: The opinions expressed here are those of the individual contributor(s) and do not necessarily reflect the views of the LA Progressive, its publisher, editor or any of its other contributors.

About Warner Woodworth

Warner Woodworth is a global social entrepreneur who's labored for over four decades combating poverty and reducing human suffering, raising over $1.3 billion to support social justice efforts by linking many investors to achieve social and economic impacts.

5 COMMENTS:

1. Heidi Husnak says

December 16, 2021 at 2:13 pm

As to Fox – Frank Bruni in his newsletter today did, in my opinion, a spot on analysis of what they said, even moreso what they did not say, and when they said it – with their sensationalizing motivations in mind, Check it out.

Reply

2. Antonio Bernal says

December 16, 2021 at 8:33 am

The Proud Boys may be full of it, and the leadership is openly fascist, but no one asks WHY? Why did they revolt? Why did 911 happen? There have been reams of hate mail against both, but no one seems to understand that 911 was the result of US imperialism, and the Proud Boys are the result of an economy that is failing its population. A little history might be illuminating;

1933- The social turmoil resulting from mass unemployment leads to Hitler's (Trump's) installation as Chancellor. Thereafter Germany's financial system and the economy in general are geared toward rearmament. Conditions for the Jews, anti-Nazis and communists (today's Muslims, Mexicans, progressives and Blacks) worsen. From its inception, Hitler's regime moves quickly to introduce racist and xenophobic policies. They are singled out by the Nazi propaganda machine as an enemy within who are responsible for Germany's defeat in the First World War, and for her subsequent economic difficulties, such as the 1920s hyperinflation and Great Depression. (Today's 2008 and 2020 crashes) Hitler moves quickly to remove the non-Nazis from the driver's seat, making the Party the exclusive master of the State, with an authoritarian government and its police ready to carry out the Nazification of Germany. On May Day, the Nazis organize a massive and enthusiastic worker's demonstration, with the motto, "Honor work and respect the worker." The next day they occupy all trade union buildings with no resistance. Union funds are confiscated, leaders arrested, even if they have pledged to cooperate with the Nazis, and sent to concentration camps (US prisons, Guantanamo and detention centers). Three weeks later collective bargaining is brought to an end, "labor trustees" are provided by the Party to "regulate contracts and maintain labor peace. (right to work)" On Hitler's promise that the Nazi government is going to put organized workers in their place and leave management to run as it wishes, and that armaments are needed to defend the Fatherland, Krupp Von Bohlen, Bosch, Schnitzler, Farben and Vögler pour large sums of money into the Nazi coffers. (Koch Bros., Coca Cola, Shell, etc.) Nazi terror is unleashed against all opposition. Fifty-one anti-Nazis are murdered during the electoral campaign of 1933. Göring establishes an auxiliary force of 50,000, most of them S.A. thugs, (Bundy, Joe the Plumber, Trump's privatized mercenary force, etc.), with orders to shoot anyone who opposes the Nazi State. (police shootings, NRA). The Reichstag fire (911) is ultimately an excuse to invade the USSR, alleging that Soviet communists had burned it down. On the day following the fire, Hindenburg suspends civil liberties; free speech, free press, postal privacy, and search warrants, and issues orders for confiscation of property . (NSA). In spite of the terror and intimidation, on election day the Nazis only get 44% of the vote, short of the two-thirds majority needed by Hitler to establish his dictatorship with the consent of Parliament. By introducing a bill to hand over the power of legislation, control the budget, approve treaties and initiate constitutional amendments away from the Parliament and hand it over to the Reich cabinet, the Nazis gain a majority and bury German democracy.(rigged elections) The Center Party (Republicrats) capitulates and gives the Nazis (tea party) the majority they need: 441 votes for and 84 against. The German National Party, without whose support the Nazis would not have come to power, meekly disappears. The Nazi Party alone remains. The next step is to turn out the provincial state governments and install Nazi regimes. Reich Governors can appoint and remove local governments, dissolve the diets, appoint and dismiss state officials and judges. All new appointees are required to carry out the policies of the Reich Chancellor. Thus the separate powers of the states are subordinated to the central government. Youth are to be trained in the service of a new National State. (charter schools). Students opposite the University of Berlin burn a huge pile of books, under the approving eye of Göbbels. Complaints are equated with treason. Calculated and incessant propaganda takes its toll, and people eventually believe anything they are told, no matter how witless, irrational or deceitful. (Fox News). Judges fear for their lives if they convict a storm trooper even for cold-blooded murder. (Supreme Court corruption). The only class that remains intact is that of big business and finance, the aristocracy, the Junker landlords and the Prussian generals. (Wall St) The lumpen storm troopers believe that the revolution they fight for by brawling in the streets will bring them loot and good jobs in business and government. Now Hitler wants to dissolve the S.A., which is but a mob, in favor of the army and the industrialists. From 1933 to 1939 the Nazis secretly prepare for war while preaching peace. What no one seems to notice is that it kept the people so busy with continuous changes and 'crises' and so fascinated of the 'national enemies,' without and within, that people have no time to think about the dreadful things that are growing, little by little, all around them. (Fox news). Each step is so small, so inconsequential, so well explained or, on occasion, 'regretted,' Each act. . . is worse than the last, but only a little worse. The forms are all there, all untouched, all reassuring, the houses, the shops, the jobs, the mealtimes, the visits, the concerts, the cinema, the holidays. But the spirit, the content, is changed. Now they live in a world of tension, hate and fear. The stress drives everyone a little crazy at times, receptive to the demagoguery from the top.

Reply

- o Doro Reeves says

December 16, 2021 at 9:23 am

Brilliant! Antonio Bernal knows his history, and the parallels he draws are chilling. I hope he won't mind me sharing his analysis of U.S. fascism on FB... for which I shall credit him of course. This is simply too good not to be shared, far and wide!

Reply

- ANTONIO bernal says

December 16, 2021 at 9:57 am

THANK YOU. YOU ARE SWEET. The OG is from Rise and Fall of the Third Reich by William Shirer. My version was written a couple of years ago and can be updated (eg, Biden's love affair with the Pentagon-Hitler's invasion of Poland (Iran?)).

Reply

- ANTONIO bernal says

December 16, 2021 at 6:37 pm

1933- The social turmoil resulting from mass unemployment leads to Hitler's (Trump's) installation as Chancellor. Thereafter Germany's financial system and the economy in general are geared toward rearmament. (the Pentagon) Conditions for the Jews, anti-Nazis and communists (today's Muslims, Mexicans, progressives and Blacks) worsen. From its inception, Hitler's regime moves quickly to introduce racist and xenophobic policies. (they're rapists and drug dealers) They are singled out by the Nazi propaganda machine as an enemy within who are responsible for Germany's defeat in the First World War, and for her subsequent economic difficulties, such as the 1920s hyperinflation and Great Depression. (They're taking our jobs, Today's 2008 and 2009 crash, plus inflation) Hitler moves quickly to remove the non-Nazis from the driver's seat, making the Party the exclusive master of the State, with an authoritarian government and its police ready to carry out the Nazification of Germany. (with the help of the Evangelicals).